

Can't help loving them, but...
Why is my child behaving this way?

PARENT NIGHT

with behaviour specialist Barbara Kaiser

One of the most difficult jobs parents face is disciplining their children, especially when they exhibit challenging behaviour.

Challenging behaviours can occur at home, in child care, in school, or all three. They usually occur regularly rather than once in a while and can make any parent feel inadequate and alone.

There is always a reason for a child's challenging behaviour, but it may not be that easy to figure out. It is rarely the result of bad parenting, and it is never because a child is just "bad."

This workshop will help parents to better understand their child and themselves, and teach them ways to prevent and respond to their child's challenging behaviours more effectively.
